PORTLAND ENTERTAINS THOU-

Portland, Ore., June 7 (Special)— Portland is host this week for thou-sands of visitors from all parts of the country who are in attendance at the annual Rose Festival. Never before did Portland look so handsome, the extensive decorations put up generally about the city being unusually elaborate. The attendance is greater than at any former festival and the parades are outdoing anything previously at-

Business cares are generally being relegated during the week. The people of the city are devoting their attention entertaining out-of-town visitors, and are participating in the week's feativities to the fullest extent. As usual, the parades and the competitive rose show are the big events, attracting the most attention. Many people of the Northwest visit Portland during the Rose Festival if at no other time during the year and to these, the tremendous growth of the city during the past year is more impressive, even than the festival pageants. The city's progress merely reflects the general prosperity of the whole Pacific Northwest, and is increasing in population and wealth because the same is true of the tributary country.

Uncertainty surrounding the future the tributary country.
